Well, this fed is not confused. And I'm not sure how anyone could be confused about this after taking in Table 5 and the regs which Mr. Whitman cite that refer to this table. Our sentence is

Or is it just politically more strategic to approach this with the Socratic method? Provided we start by pointing out that the reg Mr. Whitman cites is tied to Table 5 and we show him the lang with taking the approach of asking him. But the language in the reg and the table is pretty clear-cut to me. (Pun intended. I feel like we need some humor right about now.)

All,

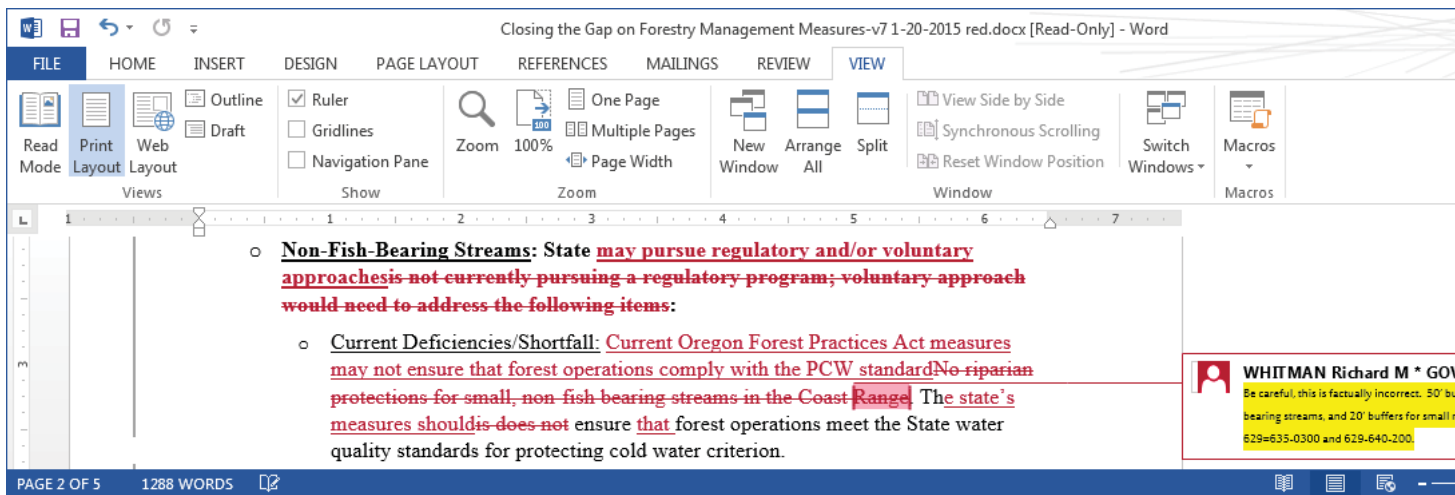

(b)(5) deliberative

In conclusion, Alan and I believe our statement is entirely accurate. ...just thought you all (and Dennis McLerran) should know.
